

American Heart Association.

Professional Members Are

- Clinicians
- Researchers
- Healthcare Professionals

Global Interdisciplinary Organization

Involved in the Work of

Improving Cardiovascular & Brain Health for All

Over 35,000 Members

Representing 115 Specialties

Live in 127 Countries

FUNDING

Over $150 million awarded annually

FAHA

Earn your Fellow of the American Heart Association (FAHA) Credentials

NETWORKING

Connect with global science leaders

ONLINE LEARNING

Offering science-based educational programs

MEETINGS

Significant savings on Meetings that Matter

EXPERT ACCESS

Gain exclusive access to the Professional Volunteer Search Tool

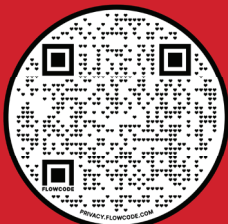

SHOWCASE YOUR SCIENCE

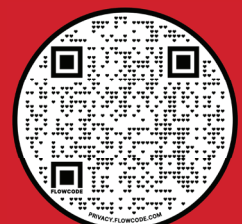

50% off #AHA25 and #ISC26 abstract submission fees

JOIN

LEARN MORE

JOIN.HEART.ORG

American
Heart
Association®

FELLOW OF THE AMERICAN HEART ASSOCIATION

Have you ever considered becoming a FAHA?

FAHA status recognizes accomplishments, achievements and commitment to excellence in research, academia and clinical practice.

Applicants for FAHA will be evaluated in the following Areas of Excellence:

- Dissemination of Science
- Building the Next Generation of Professionals
- Leadership
- Advanced Knowledge and Competence
- Funded Research
- Professional Recognition
- Contributions to the Field
- Contributions to AHA's Mission

If your interest is piqued, then take a look at the newly revised criteria for applying to become a Fellow of the American Heart Association (FAHA).

Additional questions? Reach out to kim.richardson@heart.org

<https://professional.heart.org/en/partners/fellow-of-aha>