

Publish in the AHA Journals

It takes more than a single metric to evaluate where to publish your work. That's why we make critical publishing statistics readily available to our authors. The chart below provides an overview of key measurements of each journal's impact.

AHA Journals Health Equity Collection

The American Heart Association's peer-reviewed, scientific research journals are committed to elevating the focus on disparities, anti-racism, health equity, community-engaged/community-based participatory research, and implementation science.

The AHA Journals Health Equity Collection pulls together original research, scientific statements, guidelines, review articles, and commentary that address ideas related to these important topics from across the AHA portfolio of journals.
