

American Heart Association®

Professional Membership

THE BENEFITS OF MEMBERSHIP

Being an American Heart Association (AHA) Professional Member is a source of great pride — pride for being part of a global organization and network of like-minded professionals that stand for something bigger than themselves — the opportunity to improve the health and well-being of millions worldwide.

Although our members pursue new advancements in science, medicine, and technology, their real-life needs are decidedly more human. AHA Professional Membership provides the resources and support that cardiovascular and cerebrovascular science and medical professionals need throughout your career.

- Exclusive invitations to networking events with renowned thought leaders from around the world
- Earn Fellow of the AHA (FAHA) credentials
- Apply for research funding to further your science contributions – up to $100 million annually. Domestic applicants only.
- Be a science voice through AHA-led advocacy projects that improve health outcomes for global populations
- Job resource tools to apply or post a job
- Access to 400+ hours of best-in-class digital continuing education courses
- Access to the AHA mentoring collaboration network
- Opportunities to serve as a peer reviewer for grants, journal reviewer, or writing group participant on scientific papers, statements, and guidelines.
